PUREBRED BULLS VS. SCRUBS

Early Rewards Clearly Indicated to Stock Raisers From Using Purebred Sires.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A few calculations in fractions indicate clearly the early rewards to the stock raiser from breeding with purebred sires instead of grade sires. The bureau of animal industry, which is sponsoring the nation-wide "better sires, better stock" campaign, calls attention to a series of diagrams issued in Wisconsin which show the progress of breeding native cows for five generations with purebred bulls, compared with five generations of breeding with grade three-fourths full-blood bulls.

After five or, in fact, any number of generations of such breeding, the calves are still less than three-quarters full blood, while if only purebred bulls are used, three-quarter bloods are produced in the second generation and the calves of the fifth generation are thirty-one thirty-seconds full blood. The characteristics of the breed rapidly become fixed in a stock in which only purebred sires are used, while after any number of generations of breeding to three-quarter-blood sires the characteristics of scrub stock still frequently appear. A three-quarter-blood bull is much more likely to transmit unfortunate characteristics which are not visible in himself than

GOSPEL OF BETTER FENCES.

Novel "Drive" Inaugurated for Improvement of Farms, Both in Value and Appearance.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

With a view to effecting a practical improvement in the value and the appearance of the farms, a five-day "buy-a-fence" campaign was recently conducted throughout the rural districts of Mississippi. This novel "drive" was joined in by local representatives of the United States department of agriculture and the state agricultural college, and other organizations and agencies. Elaborate plans for promoting the campaign were worked out in advance, including the organization in each county of committees whose duty it was to spread the gospel of better fences. The big saving to forage crops resulting from better fences was pointed out, likewise the labor saved in caring for live stock to prevent overfeeding. An appeal was also made for fields and homesteads that appear well cared for.

Good as were the immediate results of the campaign, it is believed that the permanent benefits will be equally large, in that it concentrated attention on the fence question and is expected to promote greater interest in this important feature of farm improvements.

FAVOR CALVES BORN IN FALL

In Spring They Are Sufficiently Grown to Take Care of Themselves—Make Good Growth.

Calves born in the fall can be grainfed and properly cared for and when grass is ready to be pastured in the spring they are sufficiently grown to take care of themselves. Squaw Evidently Had Not Always Kept One of the Ordinary "Blanket Variety."

We were honeymooning in Arizona. Of course, we had our ever-faithful camera with us. On the principal street corner of a small town I saw an old Indian squaw sitting on the sidewalk with her pottery on exhibition about her. I thought that would be a dandy picture to take back home. My wife and I stopped in front of the squaw, and, knowing an Indian's superstition about being photographed, we hesitated. Just then the proprietor of the store in front of which we were squatting opened the door and I inquired of him: "Do you think she would object to our taking a snapshot of her?" He said he didn't know, that we might try it, and while we were discussing the situation the squaw spoke up in excellent English and with decided gestures: "No, I don't care to have my picture taken."—Exchange.

A husband, newly wed, and also a graduate of the University of Southern California, went to attend a banquet on the campus with a few of his college mates. He omitted telephoning his wife.

"Why, dearie, I have been out enjoying the evening with my dear Alma Mater."

"What?" ejaculated his wife, jumping to her feet. "Alma who?" Then tears.

It took the errand head of the family just two hours and twenty-five minutes to convince his heart-broken belpatriot that Alma Mater was not an alluring vampire.—Los Angeles Times.

SWEET POTATO TO BE INDUSTRIAL FACTOR IN HANCOCK COUNTY.

Realizing the Value of the Sweet Potato As a Staple Crop, and Its Adaptability to Our Soil, Says Co. Agt. Pittman, ought to be made a MAJOR AND PROFITABLE CROP.

Urges All Growers of Hancock County to "Get Busy" and Make Money—Advantages Here Are More Than Inviting.

County Agent Frank B. Pittman, of Hancock county, is just now most actively engaged in urging the farmers of Hancock to grow more sweet potatoes than ever, to plant now, and to market early. He says we have manifold advantages which do not exist elsewhere, and with a little get-up and organized system in shipping, there is "money in it." He says he is making this campaign realizing the value of the sweet potato as a staple crop and the adaptability of the soil for the purpose. He has addressed the following to the potato growers of Hancock county:

"Realizing the value of the sweet potato as a staple crop, its adaptability to our soil and climate and understanding the farming people and their knowledge of growing this crop, I feel that one of our greatest accomplishments to be hoped for is to promote and perfect the sweet potato to a safe and profitable staple crop for this section.

"I have repeatedly insisted that there were two chances for the potato grower of this section to secure a fair price for their products. First of these is to market the early crop in July or early part of August. In doing this we have several advantages over the grower living just north of us, who market their early potato crop every year at a fancy price. Second, is to store in a sweet potato storage house and market them when the price is right.

"These two plans can be successfully worked together. The farmers can manage the first or the early marketing for themselves, but as the average small farmer cannot afford to build a storage house, I am convinced that the commercial storage house is going to solve the problem for us. If local capital is not used in constructing these storage plants, some storage company will later place plants in this section.

Planning to Organize Sweet Potato Clubs.

"I am planning to organize sweet potato clubs among the boys of the country, where shipping facilities are to be had. I am also going to extend this invitation to any farmer of the county who wishes to try the project of early marketing. The only requirements there will be to this Hancock County Sweet Potato Club is the producing of a one-eighth acre plot of Porto Rican yams, to be marketed in co-operative shipments in the latter part of July or first of August. And to keep a complete cost account of the entire project, to see for ourselves if it pays.

Now Is the Time to Bed Potatoes.

"Now is the time to bed your potatoes far early draws. Five or six bushels of potatoes should be bedded for every one-eighth acre plot to be planted. The bedded potatoes should be located on the south side of some building. Prepare this bed by digging a hole 8 to 10 inches deep, four feet wide and as long as is required for the amount of potatoes bedded. Then place in 6 to 8 inches of fresh stable fertilizer, pack well and wet thoroughly. Three to four inches of good sandy top soil should then be placed on top of the fertilizer, which will bring the bed near the surface of the ground. Then select good, medium-sized sound potatoes, and lay over the bed just so they are touching. Cover these with about three inches of top soil. The side and ends of the bed should be protected by placing boards or poles around to prevent washing down. Plenty of pine straw should be placed near the bed to be used as covering in case of a cold night or threatening frost. The slips should be ready for the field by April.

"Here are a few things we must accomplish if we meet with success in putting sweet potatoes on the map in Hancock county. We must standardize our varieties, mixed varieties do not sell well. We must plan to plant early so we can get our potatoes on the market when the price is good. And we must so conduct ourselves that other people will find it easy to work with us in our marketing problems.

"Articles on preparation of soil, transplanting, cultivation, harvesting, grading and marketing will follow in season. If you are interested and willing to try this little project, bed your potatoes now, ask me for a record book and for any other information you need about the sweet potato Club.
